

QMedia Extras ReadMe

The Extras directory contains the following items:

HackTV

© Apple Computer, Inc.

This is a video/audio grabbing sample application from Apple. You can use HackTV to verify that your QuickTime-compatible grabbing hardware and software (VDIG) is functioning properly.

SoftVDIG

© Apple Computer, Inc.

This QuickTime extension from Apple is a software-only video digitizer. You can use it while developing with the sequence grabber as a substitute of a hardware card/VDIG, in case you do not have a card installed on your machine.

To install SoftVDIG on your computer drop it into the following directory:

On MacOS:	Extensions
On Windows 98:	{Windows}\System\ directory
On Windows NT4:	{Win32}\System32\ directory

Both HackTV and SoftVDIG appeared first in Apple's excellent —unfortunately discontinued— Develop magazine (issue 14) correctly archived at:

Note: HackTV and SoftVDIG are unsupported software. Use them on your own risk.
